NEWPORT NEWS, VIRGINIA

Foreword

In the infinity of tomorrow it lies, our future, latent with possibilities, full of doubt, possessed of many problems waiting and needing to be solved.

It shall be to our everlasting credit if we, the students and graduates of today, set forth in the future to solve these problems and to clear away the doubts.

All through our lifetime thus far, we have seen and heard of little except selfishness, isolationism, warfare, and economic problems developing from wars.

With this in mind, we of the younger generation will strive never to allow our children and our friends' children to suffer the privations of another global war.

We were born during a financial depression; when we were five years of age, a potential enemy unsheathed its long and evenly tempered sword of aggression against its oriental neighbor. At six, we saw a great central European power seize another country by force. In 1939, when we were eleven or twelve, an unprovoked attack on a defenseless nation by a previous aggressor rang up the curtain on the second World War within a generation.

All this seemed too far away to be important to our parents who were doing our thinking for us; Europe and Asia were left to fight their own battles. Finally we were attacked and we set out to defeat those nations that had stabbed us in the back. It is the boys of our generation, our older brothers and sisters, and we ourselves who have done, are doing, and will do the bulk of the fighting.

Realizing the part that we—the youth of today and the hope of tomorrow—will play in making this a better world, we see it fitting to devote this, the Anchor of the class of June 1945, to thoughts of "Our Future World."

FRANCES L. TAYLOR

E. JEANETTE WARD

Dedication

Asserting their belief in the axiom that there is a first time for everything, the staff has chosen to give the June 1945 Anchor a double dedication.

MISS FRANCES L. TAYLOR

Though she has not long been a part of NNHS, Miss Frances L. Taylor will never be forgotten by any of the many students who have come to know her. How could they when they recall that it was she who taught music and journalism and supervised the publishing of the Anchor and Beacon, each a job within itself?

To Miss Taylor, in recognition of her fine work and her friendly co-operative spirit, this Anchor of June 1945, is respectfully dedicated.

MISS JEANETTE WARD

"Now here's where you have to use your psychology," has become familiar to all of the Anchor staff, for it signified that Miss Jeanette Ward was helping us solve some pressing and perplexing problem.

We first met Miss Ward when she taught us freshman English; in senior English class, we learned about life through her guidance; and, serving under her on the Anchor staff, we learned how to work.

So that her affableness and contributions to NNHS may not go unrecognized, this Anchor is dedicated to Miss E. Jeanette Ward.

Sponsor's Message

My dear members of the Class of June '45—

I suppose you have had your fill of "good advice," so I will not offer you any—no, not even mention to you again "duty with a capital D" or "Work is not by excuses;" but I will say that I appreciate the honor you have done me in electing me your sponsor and that you know I shall ever have a personal and deep interest in your welfare. Especially dear to me are the many among you with whom I have plodded thru the great fundamental laws of physics with their mathematical and commonplace interpretations and applications.

Well, our life together—and it's been most pleasant—is over, and I am offering you, instead of advice, a little story which has been an inspiration to me down the years. May you find it so, too; for it is an allegory of life if you choose to read it as such.

The story is of a fierce battle which raged and swept back and forth between the forces of EVIL and RIGHT. The day wore on and a noble knight, who had fought his way most valiantly into the heart of the Evil forces, found himself unhorsed, with broken sword. "I am undone," he cried, "alas, defeated," and held up his hands in token of surrender. Behind him, also unhorsed, came the King's son crying, "On to Victory." He came fighting with bare and bleeding hands, for he had lost his sword in the fray. The forces of Evil closed in about him; hard pressed on all sides, he spied the broken sword that had been cast aside as useless. He cried, "Thank God for a weapon." Then wielding the broken piece mightily, he won that day a great victory and raised the standard of Right high for all to see. The sun, setting in the west, emblazoned the battle-stained banner with the red and gold of the victor.

Very affectionately yours,

Cornelia W. Segar

MOTTO

"It matters not how long you live, but how."

Flowers

Purple and White Iris

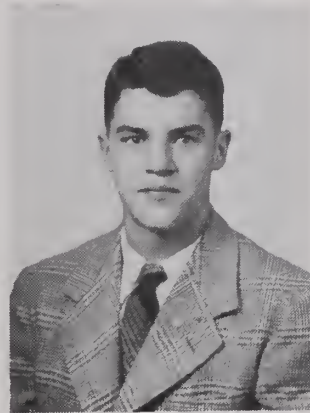

KENT MILLER

Carrat-topped and blue-eyed, Kent combines a puppy dog personality with real ability. He is the boy who has become two of the three things you can't be more than one of—by holding the presidency of his class as well as of NNHS student body. On the athletic side, "Pinky" displays a letter in track and football.

SI NELMS

A tie signifies a date, but he never wears a tie. Shy but easy on the eyes is a bad combination for the girls! Si is one of the most accommodating boys in the class. Being Mr. Cann's right hand man, Si has devoted much of his time to athletics and their management. This entertaining conversationalist is ever desirable company.

ANNE BURTON

"Well-dressed," "efficient," "attractive," are all suitable adjectives in the description of our secretary, who piled up an impressive record during her four years sojourn at NNHS.

When she was a 4-Law, Anne was honored by being chosen the "D. A. R. Good Citizen."

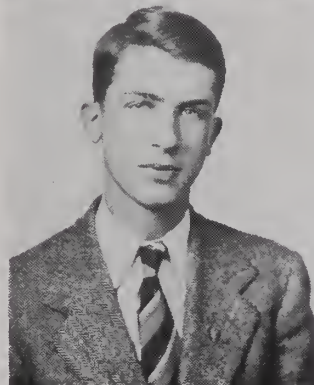

BETTY HARP

A smile that is sparkling and a disposition like an ice cream soda make Betty everybody's friend. During the football season, our "Woman In White" helped lead the band as a flag-twirler. Betty's versatility is proved by her list of activities, good scholastic standing, and widespread popularity.

NELSON OVERTON

Dignified Nelson has combined athletics and scholarship to obtain pleasing results. He is not a backworm, but his natural intelligence has aided him in becoming one of our top-ranking seniors. Track has been his specialty along athletic lines. Appearing serious, he surprises one with his gay and entertaining conversation.

OLGA CRITZOS

Black-eyed Olga, our valedictorian, has carved a place for herself in the hearts of her classmates and teachers — a place that will never be filled by anyone else. Almost any morning she can be seen bubbling over with vitality and dashing about the school on some important business.

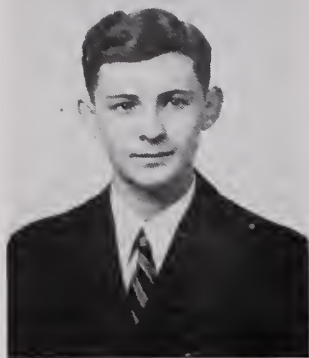

HERBERT BATEMAN

A shock of unruly hair and a winsome smile have won Herbert a host of friends. His final contribution to successful student activities has been made as Editor of our Anchor. The intelligence, tact, and patience displayed in this field have assisted his journalistic ability.

ROYDEN GOODSON

Somehow he reminds us of a little boy caught stealing cookies in the pantry and trying to escape being spanked. This winsome boyishness is enhanced by a freckled face, sandy hair, and a persuasive smile. A more mature side of his nature is revealed during Honor Council meetings.

PAUL PEEPLES

Never one for words, Paul lets his actions speak for him—Best Student of the Senior Class, Anchor Business Manager, Honor Student—they definitely speak well! If there is only one person who has the respect of both the faculty and students, it is really Paul.

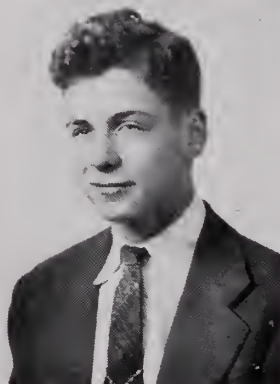

FRANCES ROBESON

Her personality is as bright as the pennies in her long brown hair; her mind is as keen as a razor. Who? Why, it's Frances Robeson, our third honor student, who is also one of the capable Business Managers of our Anchor.

JACK HAYES

The quality of boy and losing childhood is Jack's and he's as full of fun as a Bugs Bunny cartoon. Carefree, he keeps a respectful distance from responsibility and enjoys life. That curly brown hair and those blue eyes are valuable assets!

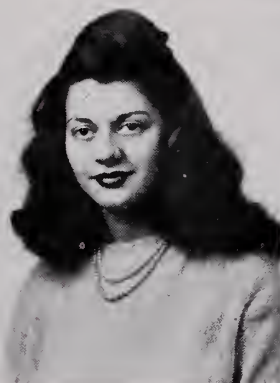

MYRA KALKIN

A scientific mind lies behind those brown eyes. The ambition to be a doctor remained temporarily dormant while a girl from New York scholastically carved her name on the Nelms' Honor Scroll and took a prominent part in school activities. Fun to know and work with is the Anchor staff's verdict.

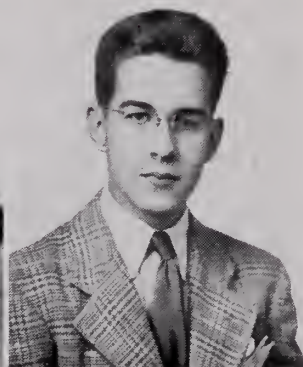

STELLA BICOVARIS

Whiz — something just zoomed by—don't bother about turning around because Stello, editor-in-chief of the Beacon, is no longer in sight. Dork eyes —full of fun, brown hair tossed casually over her shoulder, this popular senior is always in great demand, for the passward to the Beacon room is—"Where's Stello?"

CHARLES WICKE

More fun than a circus, dizzy as a merry-go-round is our "Master of Mirth," Charles Wicke. An outstanding physical characteristic is the unconquerable shock of hair which stands straight up like a full pin cushion. But his easy going manner is deceiving, for there is always something stirring above those ears.

CECELIA JONES

One of the most versatile young ladies of our class is Cecelia—not only chosen best-all-round girl—but also voted on honor student. Easy on the eyes, she has found no difficulty in maintaining a steady date list. Her peppy personality and carefree manner account for her unusual popularity, and her work in extra-curricular activities has been outstanding.

RICHARD BARTLETT

Quiet and reserved in a large group, Richard becomes entertaining and witty when among close friends. During his Newport News high school career, his amiable manner has proved a valuable asset in both schoolwork and social activities. Never one to burden others with his troubles, he has always been willing to aid a classmate in a time of emergency.

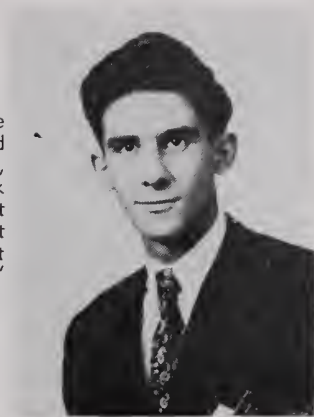

WALTER STERN

"Still achieving, still pursuing, Learn to labor and to wait."

Big in stature and in heart is Walter Stern, that dark haired boy seen everywhere at once. If you want something done, see Walter; for traits such as dependability, ability, and willingness to work are his trademark.

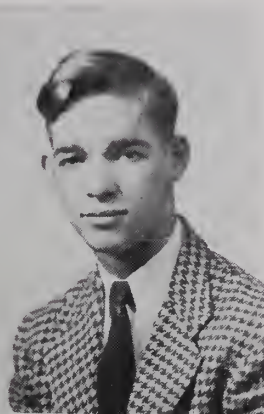

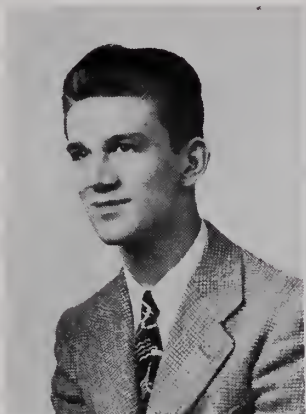

DICK AJALAT

"Going, going, gone, to the gentleman in the polka-dotted suit." Our school auctioneer, Dick, is at it again. Tall, dark complexioned "Brooklyn" not only officiates at auctions, but also has a singing voice that we know will make "Frankie" himself swoon!

ERNEST EDWARDS

We look into our crystal ball. It is 1960. On the marquee of a famous New York theatre, we see "Inside America," written by Ernest Edwards, starring role played by Mr. Edwards, and program illustrations done by the same person. While in NNHS Ernest has shown himself adept as a playwright, artist, and footlight facer.

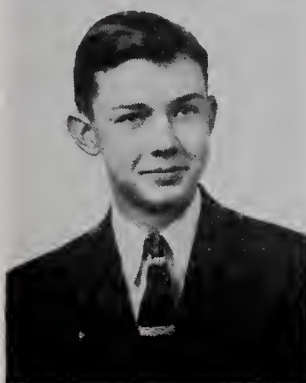

VERNON SMITH

His hands will unlock the door to success. It is too early to predict what sign will be painted on his office, but it may be "Artist," "Sports Editor," or "Executive." His engaging smile, pleasant manner, and nice personality plus his versatility have made Vernon an important member of the Beacon and Anchor Staffs.

DOUGLAS SNEAD

Take a D as in dreamy-eyes; add an O as in obliging, a U as in understanding, and a G as in good-looking; take the L from likeable, the A from artistic and the S from swings-a-torrid-trumpet, and you have our Assistant Art Editor, Douglas Snead.

ELAINE HOPKINS

"Hop" is quiet, calm, and eager to listen to whatever any one has to say. She is the "Adrian" of our class, and we'll expect to see this girl's name on the clothes we wear in the future. Do you remember her mad dashes to art class on Fridays after school?

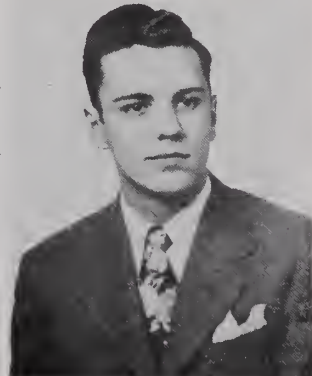

MAYER SARFAN

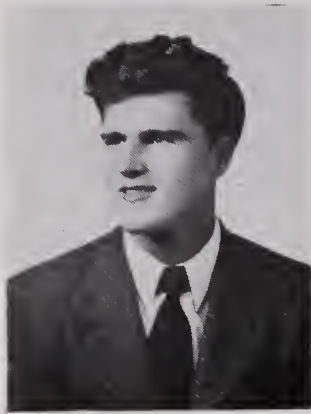

Above the noise of the 9:00 o'clock bell can be heard the sound of running feet. Sarfan's late again! Combining English 8C, a job in the shipyard, and Sports Editor of the Anchor is a lot of work for one person to handle, but Mayer can and does. His ever ready smile, combined with an unfailing sense of humor, makes him one of the best liked boys in school.

JACK CRAWFORD

"Well-groomed" appropriately describes dependable and likeable Jack. During his high school career, he made an outstanding record in athletics. He was rated as high in track as he was on the dance floor. President of the "Jiving Co-Eds," he's really the typical teen-age boy.

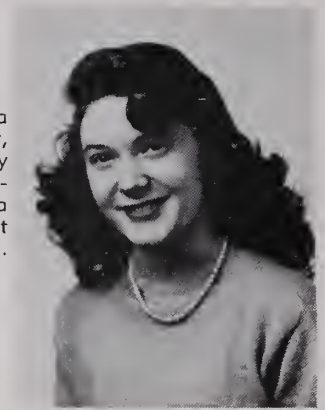

BERNARD AUGUST

When he dons bell-bottom trousers this summer, Bernard will be identified as tall, of medium weight, with brown hair and eyes. Our description, however, includes more adjectives and runs something like this: talented musically, following in the footsteps of Gene Krupa when it comes to tickling the snakeskins, and well-dressed.

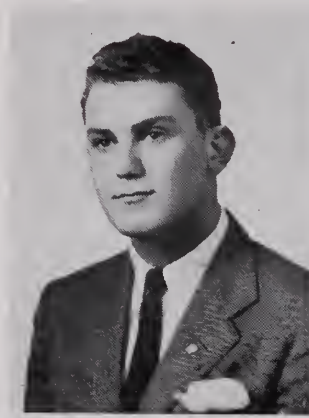

FLORENCE ARCHIBALD

Take creamy white skin, a pair of dark eyes, black hair, and ruby lips, blend carefully together, add a touch of lipstick, a bit of powder, stir in a smile, and you have our best looking girl, Florence Archibald. She can sing, too.

MAYER BINDER

The life of any party he attends, Mayer is always the center of attraction as he gives side-splitting imitations complete with facial expressions. He is the prominent member of the music department who rolled them in the aisles at our annual spring concert when he appeared as Mayerinsky Binderofsky.

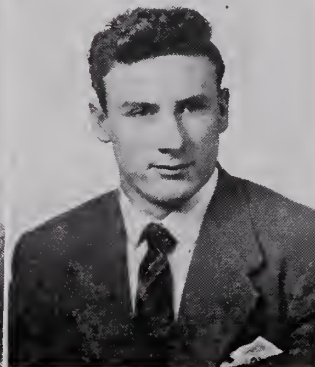

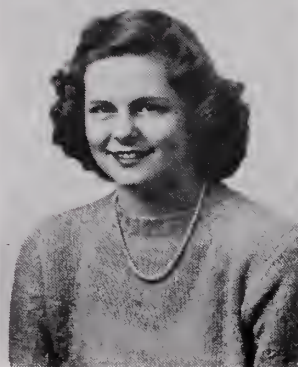

SPOTTIE BIVINS

Sweet and just as welcomed as the peppermint stick on a Christmas tree is "Spottie's" familiar "Hello, Honey!" A combination of charm and frankness won for her the Class vote as most popular senior girl.

MARJORIE BOSWICK

Blue eyes and brown hair are an unusual combination for an unusual girl. Too, there is a pert little smile that goes with a tiny dimple in the corner of her mouth. Enthusiastic over everything she does, Marjorie did a wonderful job as secretary to Mr. Dellapenta, as class gifting, and in the making of friends.

CALVIN BRIDGE

Another absentee graduate is Calvin Bridges who inherited the title "Fearless Fosdick" in view of his athletic prowess. While he was in school last term, his name was a regular on the sport page, and his yord going runs with the pigskin made him the terror of Typhon opponents.

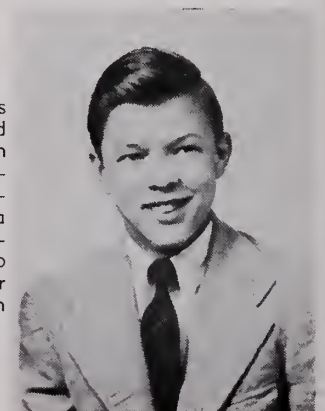

MARGARET BOWDEN

"Early to bed, early to rise." Well, we can't verify "early to bed," but the "early to rise" is evident in the case of Margaret Bowden. She holds the unusual and enviable record of never having been absent or even late during her four years in high school. You can usually find her at the skating rink where she exhibits proficiency on four wheels.

ROBERT BROWN

Never did Bobby let studies interfere with having a good time. In four years of high school, he distinguished himself, not as a student or participant in activities, but as a good companion. Since he always has something funny to say and is ever full of ideas for a good time, Bobby is much sought after.

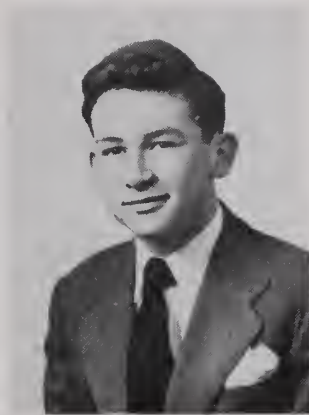

NAOMI BRUNDAGE

"June" represents the girls from the other side of the Mason and Dixon line. With her northern accent, sweet personality, red hair, skating ability, and all-round niceness, she contributes much to the happiness of her class.

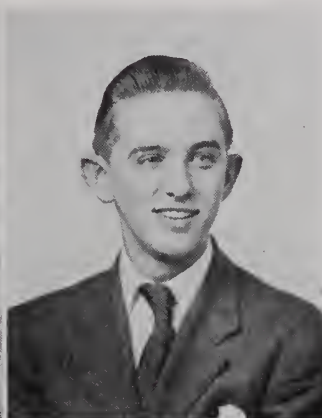

WILLIAM R. BURNETT

What are we bid for this black-haired and blue eyed male? On second thought, he's not for sale because he is invaluable. Smiling yet warying—lazy yet obliging—Bill is a perfect companion who can adapt himself to almost any situation.

ANNE BYRD

Always happy—
Nice clothes—
Natives everyone—
Eyes of blue—
Brownish hair—
Yet with golden glints—
Rather quiet—
Dreamy with a real Southern drawl—

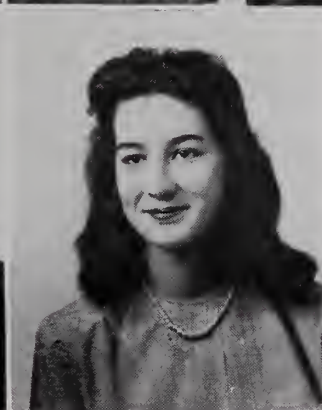

CARL CANNON

Carl is one of that rare species of mankind—a gentleman. Always neatly dressed, Carl is never seen without a tie—either bow or regular. An unusual sense of humor combined with determination and ability makes Carl's a pleasing personality.

FRANK CARTER

Frank, right hand man for the Drama department, has been of great service to the school. Perhaps his greatest contribution was the attractive decoration of the stage for the annual concert. Always joking and ever ready to help, Frank has played his high school role well!

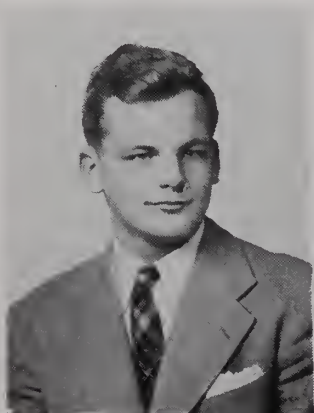

JEAN CAMINADE

If you have seen a tall, slim, dark-haired girl with a slow sleepy smile, who moved about the halls with a grace that made her seem to float along, it was probably Jean. The suit or dress she wore was doubtless made by her own hands, for a whiz is Jean at the sewing machine.

TOMMY CHALLONER

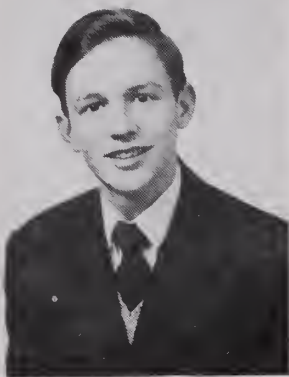

Big, blond, and good-natured Tommy has a remarkable sense of humor. His lightheartedness and carefree spirit are contagious. This mischievous young man not only loves to play pranks on others but also enjoys one on himself. Laughing blue eyes and typical boyishness give him an air of innocence which proves a bit deceiving.

FRANCES COATES

A lively girl with a big smile and a yen for a good time is an accurate description of Frances Coates. Business may come before pleasure when she's in printing class, but when pleasure comes, Frances is ready, willing, and able.

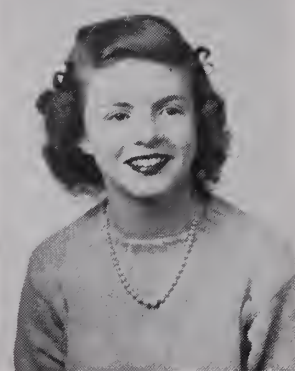

NORMAN COINER

"Chicken," Newport's Indian rubber man, is as indestructible as a Sherman Tank. Besides possessing a monopoly on pep, he has a capacity for hard work plus an active funny-bone. Regardless of the circumstances that may confront him, we're sure that he can take care of himself.

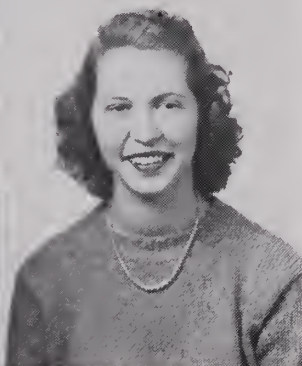

CELESTE DOWDY

A paradoxical name—Celeste (meaning heavenly) and Dowdy (meaning shabby)—is ignored on meeting the owner. Webster's definitions cannot be accepted in a description of Celeste, as her amiable nature, pleasing candor, and work as Beacon Business Manager tell a different story.

EDWARD COLLINS

Easy-going and carefree, Ed is one of the most independent boys in the class but he is always a friend when one is needed and a help in time of emergency. His ready smile and hearty laugh are enviable assets.

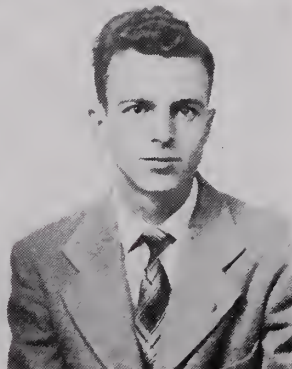

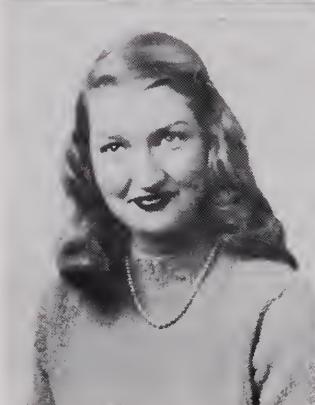

MARION EUBANK

Tall, slender Marion is "seen but seldom heard." Though quiet and reserved, Marion is fun to be with and she's an all-around friend. The candor in those deep brown eyes shows that she's conscientious in her work and dependable to the Nth degree.

NANCY FAULEY

To paint her picture we'll smear a goldish color for her long "Veronica" hair, put a curve or two in the right place, and splash in the lines of a stylish dress for our "Sadie" of Beacon fame or put in the traditional white of a flag twirler; but we'll have a harder time getting just a touch of an impudent grin to reflect a care-free personality and love of fun that would name the picture, Nancy Fauley.

JOE COX

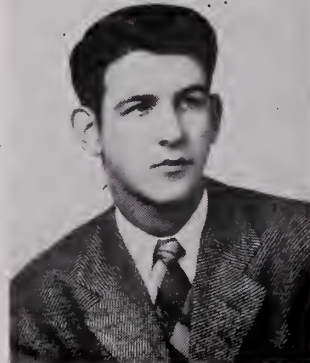

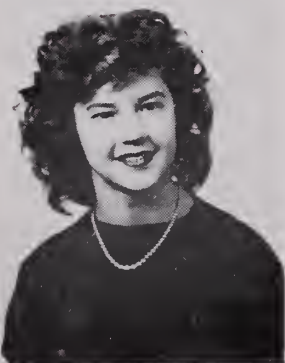

Another country has been heard from! It's curly-top Joe from "A little bit north of South Carolina," drawl 'n all. His infectious laugh lets us know he's around and he always has a tale a little taller than the one just told.

GOLDIE FOX

Here's a sweet girl who smiles all the time and is always joking. She likes sports, especially skating and dancing. They call her "Goldie the Locks"—a look at her picture will explain why.

ALLEN CROSS

Crew-cut Cross is here among the scholars. As he himself would say, "Clem, how'd I ever make it." Allen can be seen in the hall any old time, as he watches the girls pass by and shouts after them, "Well, Da-aisy Ju-une."

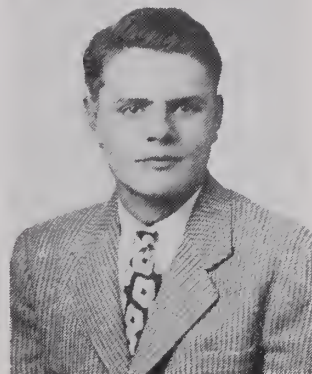

MARY LEE FOX

"What say?" is Mary Lee's greeting as she passes by with her usual smile. Being superintendent of the C and D period printing classes that slaved over the Beacon, she is one of our "heroes of the press." She will always be remembered by her fellow classmates for her friendliness and good humor.

JAMES M. DANIELS

James is a drawling Georgian who is full of tall stories. This reticent, good-natured fellow is not seen much around the halls because he is busy with machine shop work. James is adept in all mechanics. He hopes to own the biggest automobile business in the world some day.

SARAH FOX

We'll always remember "Abbie" with her humor that would pop out like measles and her knack of getting any of us out of our lowest moods. To cheer us on the side line, she could always dig out her accordion as she did in our Freshman Assembly—remember?

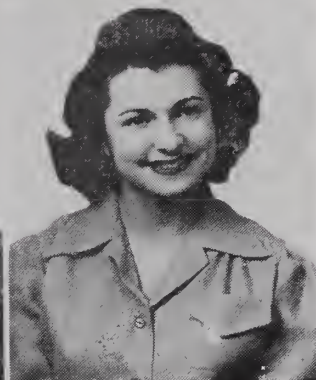

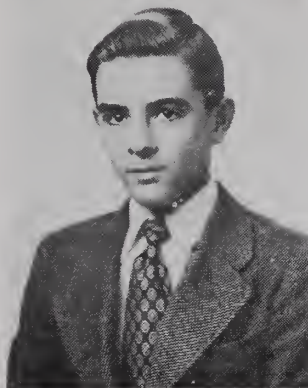

WILLIAM ELLIS

If he doesn't emerge someday as a professional football player, he'll probably pass through his old home town while he is on tour with the Metropolitan. Cookie Ellis, the Nelson Eddy of his class, has distinguished himself not only in football and chorus, but also as the other half of the famous "Bookie and Cookie Comic Team."

HOMER FERGUSON

Happy - go - lucky Homer, "Bucky" to his classmates, possesses two of the most enviable brown eyes in the school. He is never the one to let studies worry him, but he enjoys life and tries to help others see its good points, too. Optimistically, he retains the same steady pace and seldom changes his opinions or his affections.

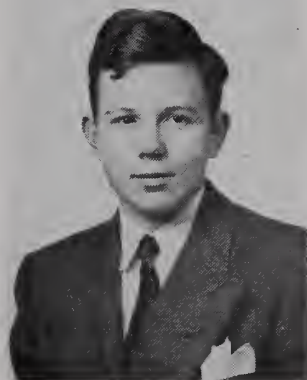

FLORENCE FRIEDMAN

Here is a trim, feather-bobbed Miss with a Northern accent. Her enthusiasm for anything she undertakes is well known; consequently, "Flo" is in constant demand. This excellent dancer often practices her favorite hobbies, dancing and photography.

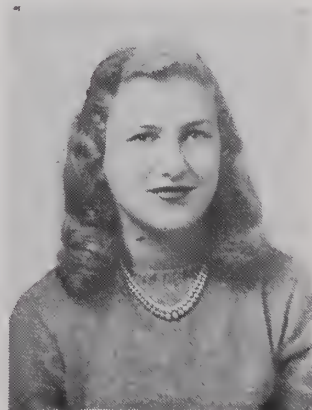

FRED FIELD

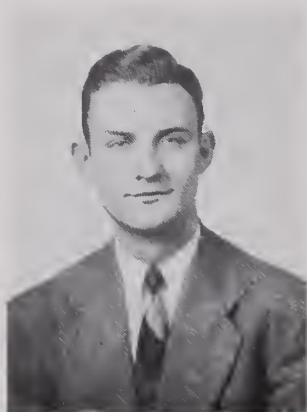

Drop two large brown eyes in a round face and sprinkle generously with freckles. Place this on a husky body and bake in the sun until brown. Add a heaping helping of humor, an analytical mind, and an easy going manner. What do you have? Why, it's Fred Field, of course.

GLORIA FULLER

Tiny and blond Gloria, the baby of the class and otherwise known as "Dolly," is a member of long standing in the Beacon room. She takes an unusual interest in swimming, dancing, and red heads. Always willing to help, she has contributed her time in typing for bath school publications and helping in numerous ways.

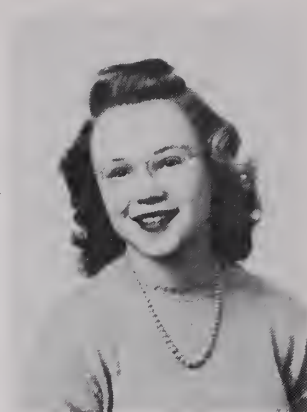

DAVID FORREST

Friendly—
Oh, that bass voice—
Resides in East End—
Really nice—
Easy to get along with—
Second Benny Goodman—
Tall and lanky—

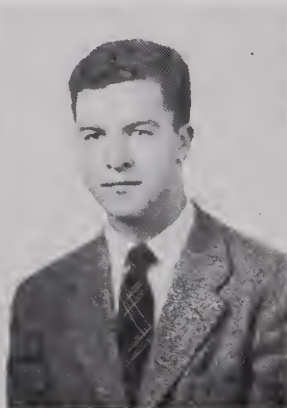

NANCY GARRETT

Full of fun, vivacious, and friendly, Nancy has proved herself an indispensable member of the class. Her cheery smile and ready wit have brightened the day for many a discouraged classmate. She possesses a unique laugh which is slightly off-key but pleasing to the ear.

EUGENE GOODMAN

For different from his brother Stanley is this quiet young man. When Stanley is continually talking, Eugene generally stands, listens, and feels content to add an occasional comment. Perhaps Eugene is never particularly exuberant, but he can always feel at home in any company and can contribute to almost any conversation.

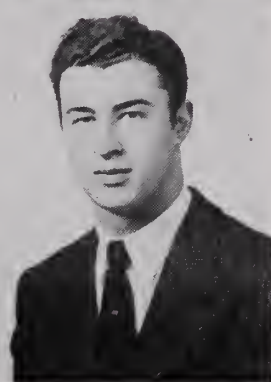

ANN GAYLE

This quiet blonde with blue eyes and a fair complexion has a genial disposition. Although quiet, she has a cheerful greeting for all and has many friends. Seldom heard, she is reliable, trustworthy, and most willing to do anything she can.

SHIRLEY GOLDSTEIN

Smart Clothes, wavy brown hair, smooth personality—all may be used to describe Shirley. Dancing rates tops on her list of diversions. Full of fun and always ready with a snappy comeback, she has made many friends throughout her school career.

STANLEY GOODMAN

Gobs all the time—
Originally from North Carolina—
Orders his brother around—
Dying to graduate—
Many friends—
Always playing tennis—
Naturally smart—

JEAN GOODRICH

Miss Mademoiselle of 1955 has brown hair and eyes plus a winning smile. Music is her main business, for she not only enjoys dancing, but plays the piano; and, contrary to most adult expectations, here is a high school student who likes the classics.

HALL GRAY

"Holley's" sympathetic nature makes him a good person to know when gloom comes one's way. He is as considerate as Sir Walter Raleigh, as smooth as Beau Brummel, and as amorous as Don Juan, especially where the disciples of Florence Nightingale are concerned.

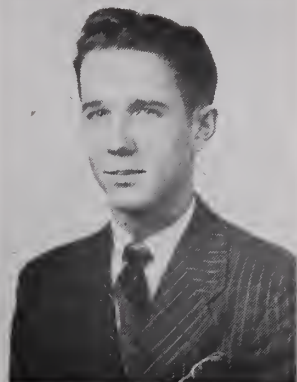

MARJORIE GURLEY

A Lauren Bocoll voice, husky and pleasing to the ear, coupled with lang dork hoir and blue eyes meons "Marge." She is tiny to look ot and fun to know, whether riding o horse, jerking sados, ot student council meetings, or in the classroom. We con expect to hear that mellifluuus voice on our phonograph some day.

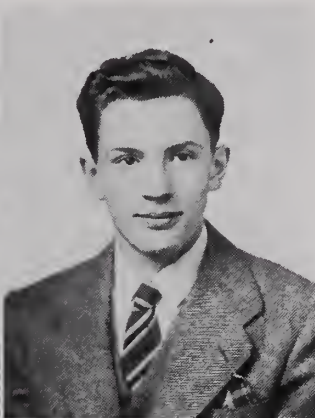

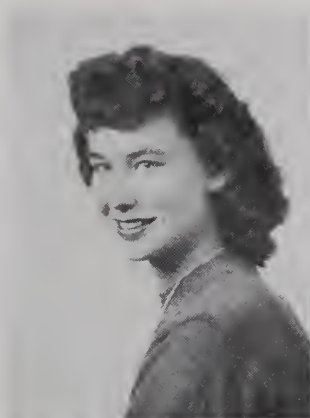

CHARLES GREY

Con be seen ot the C & O—
Hurries to school—
Ambitious—
Rather quiet—
Likes girls—
Enjoys playing the clorinet—
Serious minded—
George Woshington school is where his interest lies—
Reolly dork hoir—
Eyes of blue—
Yes, he is full of fun.

EVELYN HANCOCK

"Life of the Party" personified is the likeoble "Bootsie." Her interest—outside her wide circle of friends—is in clerical work. The fact that she is engaged to the owner of the skoting rink may well account for her liking thot sport.

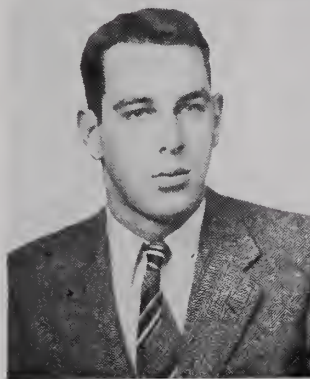

WINTON HAMILTON, JR.

Full of the right kind of personality and corefree—that's Winton. Beneoth his brown hoir ond behind his brown eyes lies o keen mind, a mind he seldom disturbs except to coll forth humor, to make on un-enjoyable experience o happy one, or to worry about plons for the week end.

HASTINGS HAWK

If "silence is golden," this silent supermon is o gold mine. Even if silence isn't golden, Hostings is still o gold mine to any othletic cooch. Howk, whose chief diversion seems to be the moking ond breoking of records, is o virtuoal dynomo of power. Hercules would look to his lourels if he could see our most othletic boy during o foot-boll game or while hondling the weights in o trock meet.

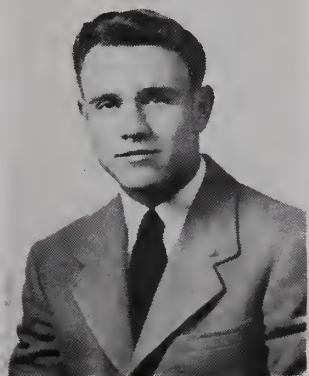

BILLIE HILL

It's no wonder thot flipponly attractive ond likeable Billie Hill has alreody been spoken for. A goy confiding monner ond a piquont turned-up nose ore omong her assets. During her high school coreer, she devoted most of her time to retil selling. After groduotion she'll turn her attentions to being a Mrs.

FRANK HOPKINS

Frnk is eternal energy personified. His othletic feots have endeored him to the men of brown, ond us, too. Not content with merely porticipoting, he has been given the nickname of "ossistent cooch."

MURIEL JARRETT

A femole mothemotical whiz, president of the Literory Club, secretary of the Chemistry Club, ond o grond girl to know sums up Muriel Jorrett. Sincerity ond friendliness ore hers along with honey colored hair ond eyes to motch.

EUGENE JOHNSON

In Tubby, we have a versatile combination of brawn and amenity. Well known for his record breaking jaunts around the track, Tubby also appears in the Hall of Fame as most popular boy. Look deeply into his eyes for the secret of his success. They'll get you!

ANNIE MAY JOHNSON

Here's our Annie May, runner-up for prettiest girl in the class. Amiable and always laughing, she brings a touch of cheerfulness to classmates who like to worry over low grades.

ROBERT JONES

He's just a little devil, a "printer's devil or helper." He's the boy who spent his school hours in S-7 as Mr. Thompson's right hand man. Beneath an ink blackened apron, he worked untiringly so that the Beacon and school programs might come out on time. The school owes much to Robert for his cooperation, hard work, and joviality.

is Any Out

GENEVA JONES

Business-like is the young Miss Jones who, it has been predicted, will probably fill a niche somewhere nearby as a stenographer. If her business skill doesn't pull her through every difficult situation, then her big blue eyes with those long curly lashes will!

VIRGINIA JUSTIS

After wandering to Wilmington, North Carolina, and Hoboken, New Jersey, Virginia finally decided "There's no place like home" and returned to Newport News to step into line as a quiet dignified senior.

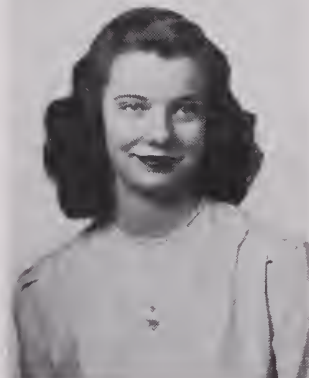

JAMES MACKEY

Fun-loving as Donald Duck, Jimmy is always full of jokes. Well dressed and tidy, his person reflects good taste. His favorite pastimes are swimming, bicycling, reading, and singing with the "Builders' Sextet."

DORIS REA KLINE

Next to talking, Doris likes skating. Poise, smiles, and attractive clothes are her trademarks. This typical subdeb's lively personality makes a bright spot in ye olde halls of school.

HERBERT MAY

"Herbert May, are you going my way?" say all his friends as they pass. Instead of the usual "Hi," he often calls out in his pleasant voice, "Look out!" "Talley Boy" with his ever ready smile is our first choice for best dressed senior boy.

BETTY LEE

It will always be that winning smile by which Betty will be remembered. Despite her pleasant ways, smooth complexion and good figure, it will always be that smile.

ARDELL McCOY

To join the navy was his ambition and now he is fulfilling it. Around school Ardell was quite a Casanova, but basketball was his first love. Quiet and reserved but always on hand to do same good, that's NNHS's "gab" Ardell.

EDITH LEWIS

Edith, otherwise known as "Edey Bits," can easily be recognized by her freckles and naturally curly brown hair. She bears a strong resemblance to Shirley Temple. Skating rates taps with "Edey" and dancing comes as a close second.

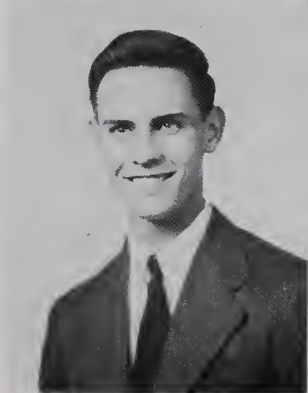

R. MANLY MESIC, JR.

This five foot ten inch, brown haired lad is ably described by his middle name. Manly, a prominent high jumper and pole-vaulter on this year's record breaking track team, also ranks high in the estimation of his classmates.

JAMES MOORE

Two things interest James more than any others—aviation and getting all the fun he can from life. His interest in aeronautics has made him study much in subjects relative to that field and his love of fun has caused him to make and hold many friends.

MARY LOU LEX

Here is the portrait of a fine girl—bright and laughing brown eyes, wavy brown hair and a sunny personality. "Lou Lex," as her many friends call her, loves to laugh and dance. To sum up her characteristics, Mary Lou is "an all-round good fellow."

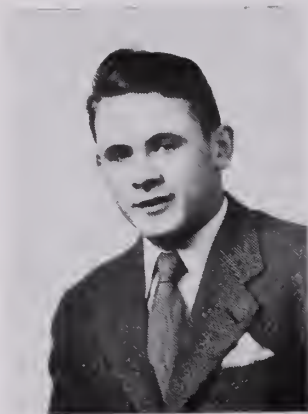

JULES MORGENSTERN

Madest and unassuming—
Oh, what a guy—
Raams the hall before class—
Going to college—
Engineering is his ambition—
Never gives up—
Stamps are his hobby—
Tries to play the violin—
Eyes of brown—
Reaching for the highest in life
Neatly dressed.—

DIXIE McKENZIE

Tiny, dainty, petite Dixie McKenzie with her fluffy blonde hair and ever ready smile has managed to win the hearts of all of us. She will always be remembered for her brightness and amiability.

LLOYD MORRIS

He may be quiet and shy when seen walking down the hall; but, when he's on the basketball court, he tells a different story. Here he can be seen darting in and out and harassing the opposition to the point of distraction and accounting for many a point for the home boys.

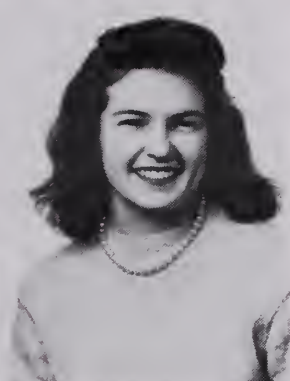

BETTY JO McWILLIAMS

We present Betty Jo, our "Senior-song-bird— lovely to look at and delightful to hear." With a gleam in her eyes and a smile on her face, she has made countless numbers of us happy with a song.

CARLETON MOSLEY

The Atlas of mythology held up the world, but Carlton "Atlas" Mosley let down the tradition of his nickname by getting only as far as his piggy bank. But even the real Atlas couldn't have been a more pleasant and well liked fellow. His smile is one which presents his set of "china" to the best advantage.

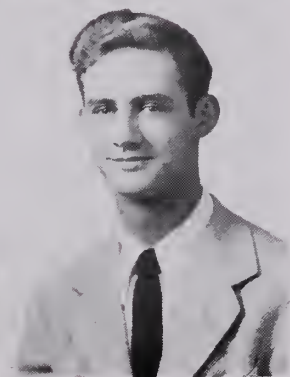

FAITH MICHIE

Faith is "Happy in Love" and for "Always." In April, she was married; and, at the close of school, she will take her place among the housewives of America. Even though she is quiet, Faith is always ready with a bright smile.

JEAN MISSET

Friends frequently warned our "Atom" or "Shorty," "Watch out or you'll fall into that crack!" Jean is proof of the old saying about good things in small packages. Our golden blonde puts her heart into whatever she undertakes and does well.

ERNEST MULLER

A jovial and "study hall haunting" skyscraper is Ernest Muller. He, with a well tanned neck ungirded by a tie, stands above the common herd. He possesses a well developed sense of humor and is always ready to laugh at a joke—be it his own or someone else's.

RUTH MITCHELL

When Ruth Mitchell's name is mentioned, it calls to mind smart clothes, equestrian ability, a flair for beating out baogie woogie, and a pleasing singing voice—all of which combine to give her sophisticated charm.

DONALD PELAVIN

Dimply—
Oh, what a guy!—
Noted for resemblance to "Great Gildersleeve"—
Always happy—
Lazy at times—
Determined as MacArthur—
Physics is his main worry—
Enthusiastic—
Liked by all—
Always pleasant—
Versatile—
Interested in business—
Numerous friends are his—

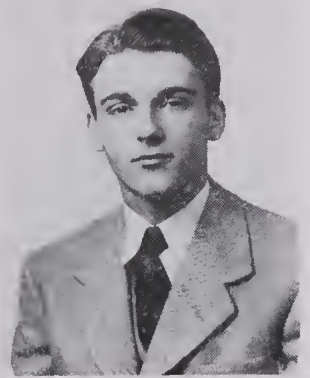

JOAN MOORE

One day she is a sophisticated young lady with upswept hair, but the next she appears as a little girl with doised pig-tails. Unpredictable as the ration situation, Joan always keeps us guessing except when it comes to friendliness and humor.

EDGAR PELTZ

"Little Dynamite" — that's Edgar; for, when it comes to a big argument, he's sure to be in it. His pleasing personality is matched only by his desire to do better. Edgar's ambition is to become a doctor and, with his foundation of physics and chemistry, he has shown that he will be a whiz in that profession.

ROSALIE NEWBILL

There will always be the lighthearted souls who make the world a less melancholy place, such souls as Rosalie. Her understanding and pleasing personality should serve her well in her chosen profession, nursing.

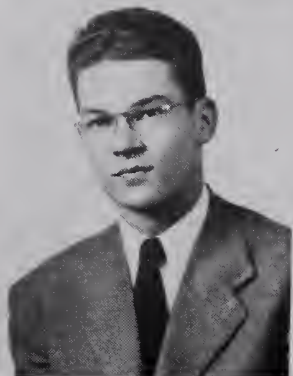

RICHARD PENCE

Dickie, the easy going president of his home room, is a friend to everyone. He has obtained a part in the senior play and yearns to be a writer of mystery stories or creator of oil paintings. We are certain that this quiet and sonny haired lad will make a place for himself in this world!

RICHARD PITTMAN

"Dude of dudes" is Richard (Boy Scout, Sea Scout, Scouter of Girls) Pittman. When not engrossed in his scouting activities, he finds time to "court" the fair damsels of old Newport High in a "Valentino you could take a few lessons" style.

MARY PARKS

The employer who advertises for an efficient and well-groomed secretary that can type, take shorthand, and remind him of his wife's birthday, will be lucky indeed if he hires Mary. Headed for a career is this vivacious senior who showed her mettle as Assistant in the school office. Too, when final averages were announced, she was one of the top fourteen.

JOHN POHL

Versatile and energetic? — Why, yes! One would have to be to excel in both basketball and track. This lanky lad not only shines in athletics, but also plays a mean flute for the high school band. Because of his long legs, he is appropriately called by his last name.

MARGARET LEE PAYNE

A dimpling smile, a charming personality, and auburn hair are Margaret Lee's envied characteristics. Participating in many activities, she has shown ability as a leader and devotion to her school. Although she appears to be hoppy-go-lucky, she has displayed her keen mind especially in the field of math and science.

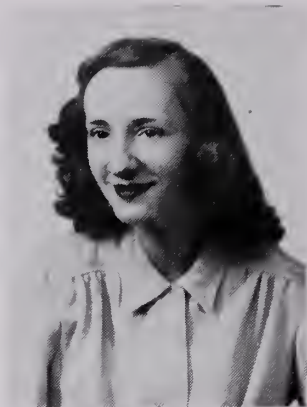

HARRY RICHARDSON

Reserved—
Intelligent—
Copeble—
Hord warking—
Always helping—
Rother quiet—
Dependoble—
Sincere—
Optimistic—
Never quits—

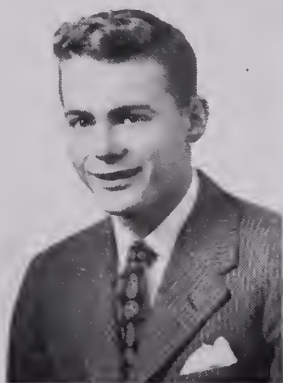

GENEVIEVE PLOTTS

In view of her quiet dignity and reserved monner, Genevieve's slightly red hoir comes os o surprise. "Still woters run deep" is opplicable to this dependoble senior. Her reedy smile and willing honds spell friendship to her friends and service to her school.

VALLEY ROY

Five foot ten, blond, and good looking, thot's a combination to catch any girl's eye! Voted "Best Looking Boy" of our groduoting class, Volley is now doing his bit for Uncle Som. Populor omong both boys ond girls, Volley is welcome compony wherever he goes.

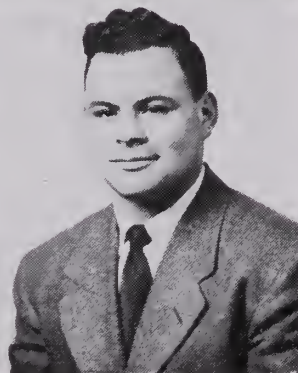

ELEANOR PULSIFER

Chic and vivocious can well describe our own Eleanor Pulsifer. Her dork beauty combined with her winning personality ore sure to "set the world on fire." With an attractive singing voice ond many other tolents, Eleonor is an integral port of our Senior Closs. "Love thot girl!"

NANCY REA

"The Skoter's Waltz" might well be Nancys's theme song, for she would rother skote thon eot. She's on expert ot sewing ond reolly dresses in style. Pretty brown hair, o pretty foce, and o pretty smile odd up to o pretty girl with o pleasing personality.

ROBERT SAVARESE

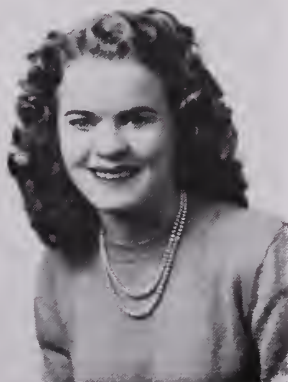

By working in o drug store, "Doc" Sovorese hos obtained on amozing knowledge concerning medicine ond chemistry. Always joking, he is destined to possess his own store where the neighborhood gong will spend time getting the lot-est prescriptions, complete with jokes.

GERALDINE ROGERS

"Gentlemen prefer blondes" is the saying; but, when o blonde has deep blue eyes ond o chorming personality, this soying is especially so. Wovy tresses distinguish the toll, slender Geroldine who always has o cheerful smile and greeting for all.

RICHARD SCHOCK

Unossuming and most oc- camadating, Richard is one of those persons who will do the mony everyday toks ond never complain or expect proise. Cool blue eyes ond a "Schock" of black hoir foscinate all the girls.

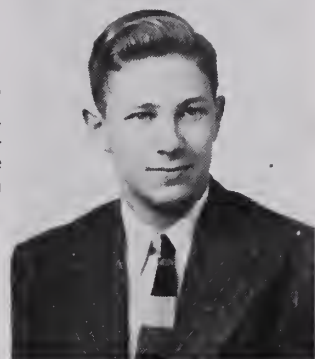

ELAINE SATISKY

Smooth looks, smooth dancing, smooth personality plus a deep appreciation of beauty and a keen sense of responsibility—that's "Baatsie." She successfully combined business and pleasure by becoming salutatorian as well as receiving the class vote for best dancer.

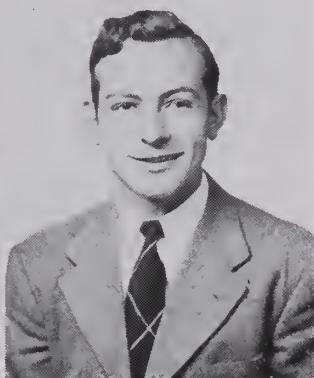

JACK SESLER

Hear that sweet trumpet? Yes, it's "Harry James" Sesler, the genius on the horn. Bubbling over with good humor, he has a smile for most and a wisecrack for everyone.

BETTY SAVAGE

Tall, dignified, and sweet are words invented to describe Betty; of these, sweet leads the procession. Since she is a good scholar, she has met the requirements of the commercial courses and has acquired the reputation of living up to responsibilities.

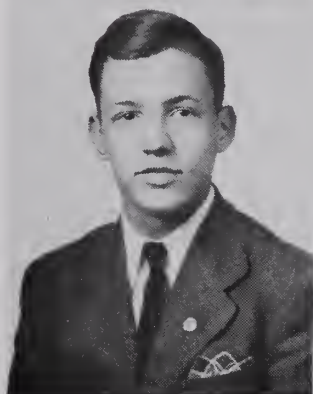

CARROL SHELOR

Carrol, always pleasant and reserved, is a real friend—a friend anyone would be proud to have. His sparkling eyes show that he can be lots of fun, for he has that certain "something" called personality.

JACKSON SMITH

Javal—
Active—
Cooperative—
Klicks an tuba—
Solid—
Obedient—
Nimble basketballer—
Straightforward—
Magnanimous—
Ingenuous—
True blue—
Helpful.

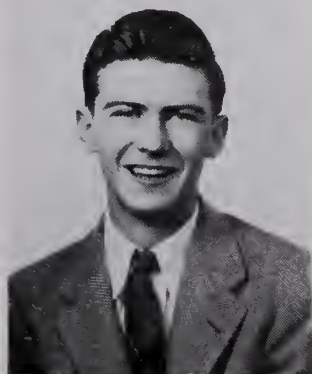

VIVIAN SILVER

Almost any morning, "Viv," Girls' Sports reporter could be seen in 118 hard at work on some article for the Beacon. Her blonde head bob seemed to be in unison with her pencil. She will be remembered for her sincerity and willingness to work.

BILL SMITH

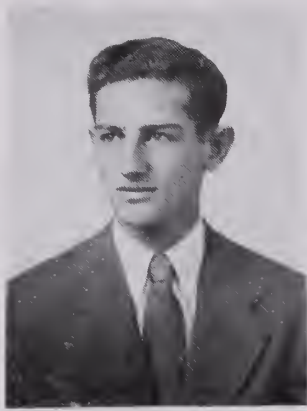

Irish thru and thru, Bill retains many characteristics of folk from the Emerald Isle. Both fun loving and hard working, he has made a good impression on many of us. Never happier than when astride a speeding motor cycle, Bill's love of fast movement is reflected in his interest from the Va. State Guards to machine shop.

ANNA LAURA STAINBACK

"Annie Laurie," with "Dark Eyes" and "Smilin' Through" during her "Schaal Days," used to say "Take Me Out to the Ball Game." When she walked in "The Easter Parade," everyone said, "My Dreams Are Getting Better All the Time."

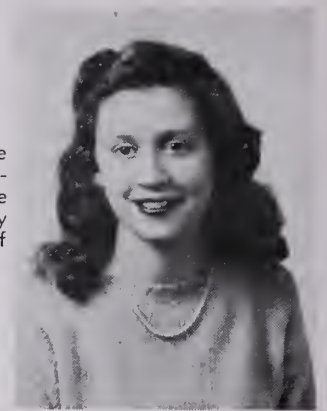

JOE SOLTZ

The mon with the bronze bady has done o great job on Newport's trock teams. Everybody knows ond likes him; for he mokes friends with people from the loneliest "rot" to the most dignified teacher.

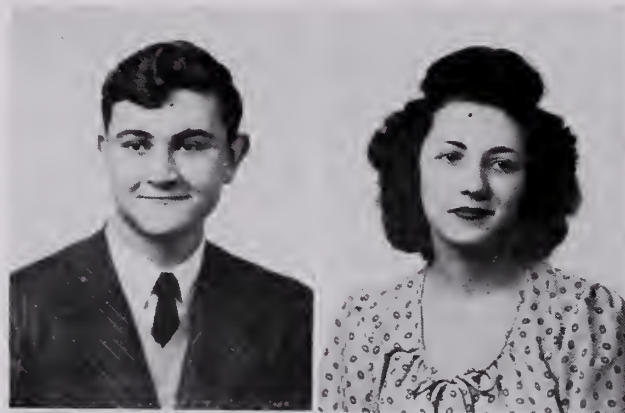

ALICE VOLHEIN

Alice was most likely to be found in our school library os-sisting in the business of the day. Efficiency ond sincerity ore marked choracteristics of oll her work.

BOOKIE STENNETT

Atlas, Hamlet, Tibbett, ond Costello — whot o combina-tion—but that is Bookie. This unusol boy holds three letters in footboll, octed in our lost spring ploy, is o lusty singer in the mixed chorus, ond keeps the whole school in eternal hysterics. In addition to pos-sessing these talents, he is also on earnest admirer of ort—porticularly pin up pictures!

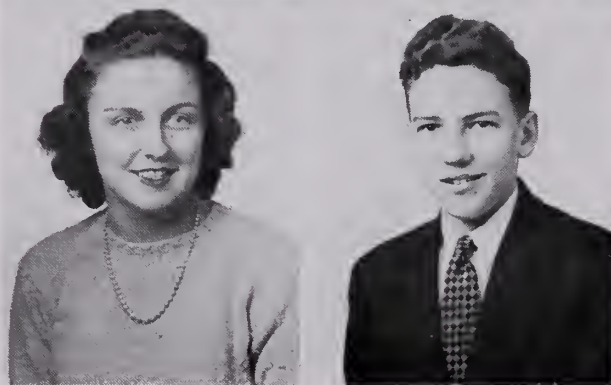

ESTHER WEISS

Ever-chonging hoir styles ond clothes transform Esther from the glamorous to the demure, ond vice-verso. We predict that she will be the delight of chore-ogrophers with her ouburn hoir, figure, ond dancing feet; or if she chooses, she con monipu-lote o typewriter ond hondle the business end of any organi-zation.

LOIS WILKINS

Our purple hearts wander up to the infirmory to hove "ongel" Lois bondoge their cuts ond bruises. In her off hours, this blue-eyed, brown-hoired fovorite mokes the skat-ing rink her hang-out, for she is on ordent skoting fon.

JOHN STILLEY

If we find o tack in our seat or ore stung with a paper woad, we ore inclined to look in John's direction. "Mop," os the boys affectionately coll him, is our favorite prankster. He mokes o big noise in government class trials; for, os o defense ottor-ney, he is tops. With his soil boot, rodio shop, ond girls, John has his outside time well filled.

BESSIE WILT

Short, dork hoired, little Bes-sie Wilt with o dimple in her chin con be found olmost any time ot the skoting rink. Be-hind her dork eyes, Bessie hos on ombition to excel in the commercial world. Her small stature mokes her dignity none the less impressive.

VICTOR TAYLOR

This toll ond blond young mon has tolent written in his physical features. His long, slim, finely topered fingers, genteel faciol expression, ond o generally delicote appeorance oll give the impression of be-longing to a musician. Victor has more than o tolent for mu-sic, especially the piono; he hos, we predict, the mokings of o true artist.

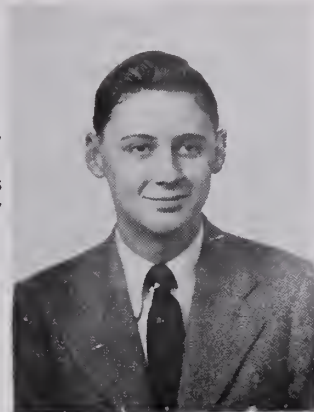

BETTY MAE WOOTEN

A pleasant personality, a delightful smile and an all-round good sport describe quiet, petite Betty Mae. She is an honor student and a real whiz at taking dictation. Never in too big a hurry to give a friendly greeting and always willing to help, Betty Mae has endeared herself to both faculty and students.

MARVIN TERRY

Like Terry in The Pirates, our "Terry" is destined to fly 'em high; for, the boy from Danville is air-minded. It seems he wants to be a pilot some day and even pilot a rocket ship.

KATHERINE ZAVITSANOS

Her Latin type of beauty brought a welcome bright touch to the Anchor room as her busy fingers typed out copy. A business career won't hold her long, we predict, because with or without a course in cooking Katherine is sure to find the way to a man's heart.

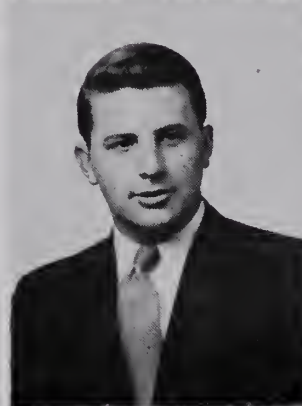

THEODORE THEODORSEN

He's gone but not forgotten. Leaving the respected position he had earned for himself in high school, Dodo entered the Merchant Marine in April. Outstanding on the athletic field, in the classroom, and as student body president, he left an indelible imprint of his ready smile and enthusiasm. Theodore means "gift of God" and the name is well placed in Dodo's case.

IVY DEAN THOMAS

Ivy Thomas is the "Ten O'clock Scholar" who made up for the lost time when he was turned loose in shop class. Judging from the varied projects that have come from his capable hands, we would say he has a niche waiting in the trade world. Since he will be a handy man to have around the house, he'd better look out for leap year.

RICHARD WILSTED

With an unusual smile and swagger, Richard exhibits a pleasing personality as he walks about the halls. In classes, he's superior and on the outside he's "taps." Possessed of a warm sense of humor, Richard is usually at the wrong end of the jokes.

Book II Activities

STUDENT COUNCIL

President Theodore Theodorsen
 Vice President Kent Miller
 Secretary Billy Hilling
 Sponsor Miss Ethel Gildersleeve

Hear ye, hear ye! All Student Council representatives and Executive Board members have met and discussed important business concerning the welfare of the school. They have sponsored dances, effected constitutional changes, and fostered many other school activities.

HONOR COUNCIL

Chairman Royden Goodson
 Secretary Barbara Pearson
 Sponsor Mr. P. W. A. Raine

Perhaps some of the lawyers, police commissioners, and detectives of our future government will be taken from this group which holds the honor of the school in its hands.

BEACON STAFF

Editor-in-Chief Stella Bicouvaris
 Associate Editor Walter Stern
 Sponsor Miss Frances Taylor

When the semester draws to a close, the Beacon Staff members are finally able to rest their weary feet and sneak a look at their own paper. Guided by this staff and the competent Miss Taylor, the Beacon has succeeded in being the eyes and ears of the school.

QUILL AND SCROLL

President Walter Stern
 Vice President Herbert Bateman
 Secretary Stella Bicouvaris
 Spansar Miss Frances Taylor

One hundred inches in the Beacon takes a lot of writing and these are the students who do it. Our school chapter is a branch of the International Quill and Scroll. The learned gentlemen in the center is no visiting celebrity, but our principal who, having written his 100 inches, has been elected an honorary member.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

|--------------------------|---------------------|
| President | Theodore Theodorsen |
| Vice President | Cecelia Jones |
| Secretary | Pam Cole |
| Treasurer | Royden Goodson |
| Sponsor | Miss Eulah Massey |

One of the highest honors a high school student can win is election to the National Honor Society. Requirements for membership are based on scholarship, service, citizenship and leadership.

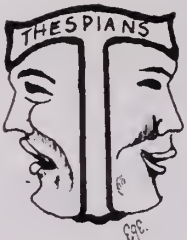

THESPIANS

|--------------------------|--------------------|
| President | Betty Harp |
| Vice President | Sara Fox |
| Secretary | Nancy Fauley |
| Sponsor | Miss Dorothy Crane |

"The show must go on!"

These are the people who make every school production a success.

BAND

Drum Major James Coley
 Sponsor Betty Harp
 Flag Twirlers Betty Harp, Nancy Moore,
 Nancy Fauley, Mary Lou Lex
 Director Miss Eleanor Sherman

The best in the state is
 Our own high school band;
 To us it would rate
 As best in the land.

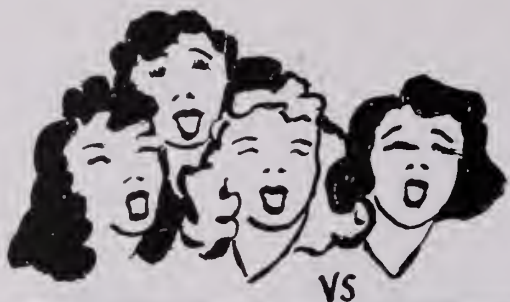

MIXED CHORUS

Director Miss Mildred Bane
 Accompanist Mary Puckett Asher

Chorus and Glee Clubs' bookings for the semester:
 Patrons League, March 5.
 Songs for Kiwanis Club, March 17.
 School appearances—Latin Club Assembly, April 9.
 Concert, May 4.
 Commencement, June 7.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Director Miss Mildred Bane
 Accompanist Betty Ann Minnigerode
 All dressed up with heels and hose
 They sing the scale from ra's to do's.

ORCHESTRA

Director Miss Eleanor Shermon
 Maybe in practice they "squeak" a little or sometimes "toot" a bit off key; but perhaps by 1955 they may be Kostelanetzes, Toscaninis and Iturbis. In performance they give us "songs to remember."

LITERARY CLUB OFFICERS

|-----------------------------------|-----------------------|
| President | Muriel Jarrett |
| Vice President | Mary Puckett Asher |
| Recording Secretary | Pam Cole |
| Corresponding Secretary | Frances Murray |

| Chairman | Constantine Tsitsera |
| Co-Chairman | Mary Wiegand |
| Sponsor | Mrs. Mae Edwards |

We dedicate this ditty
To the Citizenship Committee.
Selling stamps each day,
They got us a flag—
Hurray!

LATIN CLUB

|----------------------------|--------------------|
| President | Frances Murray |
| Vice President | Mary Puckett Asher |
| Secretary | Betty Harp |
| Sergeant-at-arms | Jimmy Goodwin |
| Sponsor | Miss Mabel Barham |

At last the camera has managed to catch the Latin Club at its semi-annual initiation meeting. The unusual looking group in the foreground has recently escaped from the comic page and come to pay this club a visit.

SPANISH CLUB

|-------------------------------|---------------------|
| President | Mayer Binder |
| Vice President | Betty Jo McWilliams |
| Secretary-Treasurer | Sonya Rosenfield |
| Chaplain | Florence Archibald |
| Sponsor | Mr. Carlos Urrutia |

Senores y Senoritas, if you want to get the inside story of la Sud American Way, just come on around to the Spanish Club. From Pan-American affairs, discussions to the hat dance, the members learn as much as possible about our neighbors south of the border.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS

Head Librarian Miss Elizabeth Sounders
 Assistant Miss Margaret Garland
 Student Assistants . . . Nancy Neill, Dorothy McClure, Dorothy Mears,
 Alice Volhein, Anne Reynolds, Evelyn Williford, and Nancy Reese

DISTRIBUTORS CLUB

President Walter Stern
 Vice President Ernest Muller
 Secretary Ann Powell
 Treasurer Anna Steinback
 Sponsor Miss Harding

Selling everything from red flannels to rolling pins, the competent members of the Distributors Club have rendered valuable aid to our local merchants and gained excellent experience as retailers of the future.

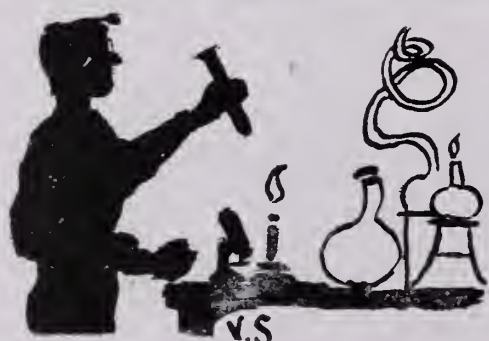

JUNIOR CHORUS

Director Miss Mildred Bane
Accompanist Mary Puckett Asher

"Great oaks from little acorns grow," and some day this group of musical aspirants will be members of the Mixed Chorus.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

President Stella Bicouvaris
Vice President Myra Kalkin
Secretary Muriel Jarrett
Sponsor Miss Anne E. Martin

Bunsen burners, test tubes and flasks
Help this club in its many tasks;
From making sulfur to mixing cream,
Miss Martin keeps them on the beam.

INFIRMARY ASSISTANTS

If you are ailing
After eating more than plenty,
Take your wailing
To room 220.

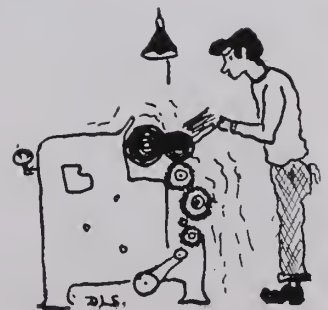

These "angels of mercy" are, from left to right:
Ruth Mitchell, Joyce Nuckols, Vivian Silvers, Marion Lewis, Lois Wilkins, and Ivy Jo Dickey.

PRINTING STAFF

Instructor Mr. Miles Thompson

"Roll the presses, set the type,"
But the printers never gripe.

WRITERS CLUB

President Ernest Edwards
 Vice President Herbert Bateman
 Sponsor Miss Ruth McGeehan

Future poets, novelists and playwrights gather round, for here's a club that can't be beat. Though it's new, and the members few, it plays a large part in the school activities.

SCIENCE CLUB

President Betty Dyke
 Vice President Jay Sawyer
 Sponsor Miss Susie Floyd

Green plants, fishes, bugs and lizards
 Are subjects for our scientific wizards.
 Future Einsteins they may prove,
 Since Miss Floyd keeps them in the groove.

CHEERLEADERS

Head Tommy Drumwright
 Advisor Miss Chlotilde Jarman

Our photographer caught these four cheerleaders after school one day. The head cheerleader, the Beadles sisters, Joyce and Dorothy; and Richard Hudgins (pictured above) along with the rest of the squad "give out" at all of our football games and really "pep up" our "Pep" assemblies.

GIRL RESERVES

Advisors . . . Miss Frances Mays and Miss Mable Wingo

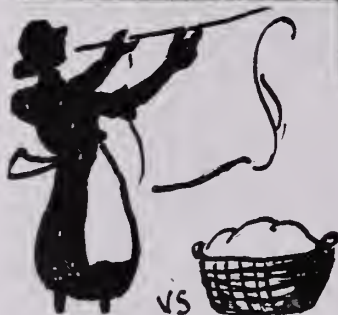

Girl Reserves are pictured at their initiation meeting. On the left are the upper classmen who are members of the Tri-Hi-Y Club and on the right is the Blue Triangle Club, composed of lower classmen.

OFFICE ASSISTANTS

Office assistants are snapped at their various tasks of answering the telephone, checking the registers, keeping the files up-to-date, taking dictation, and filling out tardy slips. They are Anne Gayle, Betty Wooten, Carl Cannon, Mary Parks and Wilson Barlow.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

|----------------|------------------------------------|
| President | June Steinback |
| Vice President | Marian Wilmur |
| Secretary | Helen Jahnsan |
| Treasurer | Florence Mullins |
| Spansors | Miss Sue Kelly and Mrs. Lalie Webb |

Cooking, sewing and other household chores are glamorized by the Home Economics Club. These gallant sauls eat their awn cooking at social events, incidentally, suffering na ill effects afterwards.

SWING BAND

Leader Billy Holloman
 Director Miss Eleanor Sherman

These swingsters furnish the music for our "jam sessions." Under the leadership of Billy Holloman, "The Voice of N. N. H. S.", our Swing Band is really on the beam.

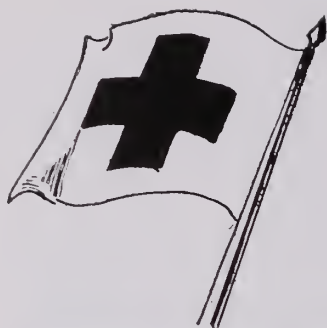

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

Director Miss Mildred Bane
 Accompanist Betty Ann Minnigerode

FORTY-SEVEN

JUNIOR RED CROSS

|--------------------------|------------------------|
| President | Barbara Mugler |
| Vice President | John Thiess |

Dear Diary

(Excerpts from the diary of a graduating senior)

Jan. 31—Seniors, mighty seniors at last! What a difference between the new dignity put on by us 4-H's and that usually bewildered appearance of the "rats" on the first day of the new semester.

Feb. 1—"And the tears flowed like wine" or vice-versa as we bade adieu to the February "Grads" at the Armory dance after their commencement exercises.

Feb. 2—Cheers at basketball game for our victory were interrupted by the rival team as it scored the winning point; we came out with the low end of the 19-18 score.

Feb. 5—Class held first conference and honored Kent Miller as our unanimous choice for president. Also in the "Big Six" were Si Nelms as vice-president; Anne Burton, secretary; Betty Harp, treasurer; Nelson Overton, Executive Board representative; and Olga Critzos, class speaker.

Feb. 6—Dr. Cornelia W. Segar took the title today of sponsor of the class of June '45. "Doc" has some girl friends, too!

Feb. 8—"Best this" and "best that" were elected in Hall of Fame; much weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth as seniors lament their fate in not having been chosen the "Best."

Feb. 12—As of today Royden Goodson and Herbert Bateman are to be called "Your Honor"; they have just been elevated to school's supreme court, the Honor Council.

Feb. 13—Bang——! Thought someone was shooting Coach Conn or being shot by him, but Mr. Conn was only giving the starting signal for a dash during inside track practice. Never thought I'd see the day these halls of NNHS would have any hazards other than that of roving "wolves."

Feb. 17—"Practice makes perfect." Theory proved by track team in running away with state indoor meet. Visions of better things to come. Record smashed as strong, silent Hastings Hawk threatens to throw "shot" out of building.

Feb. 28—The first BEACON of the semester, a six page one, finally came off press into the hands of anxiously awaiting students.

Feb. 22—Thanks, George Washington, for being the father of our country! Holiday! No homework! Gloat!

March 2—Saw many happy faces as folk turned from bulletin board. Curiosity aroused, went to look too. Grinned also. My name was on it, the tentative graduation list.

March 16—BEACON turned green: I thought Mr. Thompson had run out of black ink. No, only St. Patty's day.

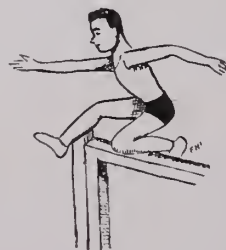

March 20—Vernal equinox, 7:28 E.W.T. "Tis Spring." Have been slowly dragging self around accordingly.

March 23—Music department of NNHS presented patriotic pageant "To Make Men Free." Featured were overalls and straw hats by lads and lasses in "Ye Old Virginia Reel."

March 29—Seems as though we have quite a few newcomers in our school. Naturally we would not want them to feel lost or forsaken so seniors from the various activities held a special assembly and told our new neighbors all about everything.

April 6—A big day! The Literary Club presented the 7th War Loan Drive Assembly with the Army Services Forces 1202 Technical Service Unit. Transportation Corps as a special guest of honor. Past work was praised and goal set for the 7th at $50,000 by a representative of the Community War Loan group. No more ice cream and candy for the next six weeks. Oh well, I was trying to find a simple way to reduce anyway. There were lumps in many throats and quite a few tears in the eyes as Private Lionel Escude sang "Roger Young." Oh, what a beautiful man. Had just dreamed up divine way of managing a date with him when was informed of tragic event. It seems that my dream man was already married. Oh, cruel, cruel fate!

April 7—We were supposed to have a track meet with Maury, I thought, but apparently it was a meet held among the members of our own NNHS track team. We took all the firsts and almost all the seconds. Points—N. N. 99 . . . Maury 18. Where are you, Maury?

April 9—Latin Club assembly! "Oh, what fools these mortals be!" Will you ever forget Miss Maguire's skit and Villain Stanley, the hard, cruel mortgage holder.

April 12—A day never to be forgotten in the history of man—the day our President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, died.

April 13—Assembly held for the nomination of school officers. "Dodo" Theodorsen told us goodbye as he prepared to leave for the Merchant Marine Academy. We'll all miss him.

April 16—A favored few today took the Pepsi Cola Scholarship Exams. A good chance for some likely student. Discussion assembly today on candidates for school office. My My! An outsider accidentally wandering in would have believed himself to be in the National Convention of one of the political parties. Well, it's all in a day's work. The office was the scene of a miniature riot as seniors clambered for their newly arrived graduation rings.

April 17—How much is your "John Henry" worth in print? 50c? The Anchor is at it again. Won't you please buy your signature?

April 20—Still marveling at performance of characters in last night's play "Tomorrow the World." Am convinced that definite talent lies beneath the "bobby sox" and "sloppy sweaters" of many. Entering the home stretch now as second marking period ends. Two down and one to go. The closest election of school officers in years took place today. Bobby Stortz had no opposition, but it was a "photo finish" for Forrest and Sawyer.

April 21—They did it again! Track team won Tidewater Meet with the greatest of ease.

April 23—Red Letter Day! Was conscience stricken and hung head quietly while receiving character analysis from Dr. Grace Sloan Overton who was presented to our school. That woman knows more about me than I do.

April 27—The history department decided that it would hold a little parley on the San Francisco Conference for the benefit and enlightenment of the students. Was duly enlightened.

April 30—Margaret Lee Payne was chosen senior musician. Guess my hidden talent was too well hidden.

May 1—Oh, remorseful day! Why was I born? Why was our order for stiff covers for the Anchor cancelled? Oh, well, there's nothing more beautiful than a nice paper cover.

May 4—Enjoyed annual concert. Mayerimski Binderofski was convincing as Russian composer. Those Russians really travel fast, don't they?

May 7—Our "brain children" announced today. Olga Critzos grabbed first honors while Elaine Satisfsky came in for a close second. Mother just can't understand why her little sunbeam could not head the list. Parents just don't seem to understand. Herbert Bateman was elected class speaker to replace Olga, now valedictorian.

May 8—V. E. Day at last! Significant that victory should come almost at graduation time. Both wanted desperately.

May 10—Track boys got reward for labors. Monogram molls also received letters. Oh, for the life of an athlete.

May 18—After much racking of feeble brain and many sleepless nights, finally managed to hand in term paper. Should get "A" for labor and effort if nothing else. Hope Miss Burbank sees this before grading said manuscript.

May 21—Great Day! Mother's little sunbeam finally shone. Managed to wobble to stage to accompaniment of "Home, Sweet Home" very ably rendered by knees of yours truly to receive long awaited awards and recognition. Five grads elected to National Honor Society (Yes, me too) so I guess we will see some crazy goings on around ye old school halls. (You guessed it, more initiations).

May 28—Sent out invitations today. Hope no one fails to take the hint and that all relatives are feeling extremely generous.

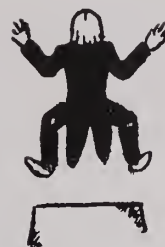

May 31—First graduation event, senior assembly, was a combination of tears and laughter. Tomorrow's talent and performers were displayed and Wicke, the M. C., was duly chosen the "poor man's Bob Hope."

June 3—Inspired by Reverend T. V. Morrison's message at Baccalaureate Sermon. Feel that I really have a stake in our country's future.

June 6—One more day to go. Gee, if it only were a thousand. Tonight's class night exercises a credit to class. Ernest's play was a scream.

June 7—Here it is, "The last for which the first was made." Yep, after eleven years, graduation from high school and what a wonderful school it is. Long will we remember the teachers and administration who guided us through our last four years of school. Wish I were starting as a "rat" instead of finishing as a "grad."

Class Prophecy

Came in, ladeez and gentlemen. Madame Latta Bunk will gaze into her crystal ball and tell you what lies in store for the graduates of June, 1945. Ah, the crystal grows clearer! Dim forms are beginning to take shape. Shazaaaammmmm!

The Madame sees:

MAYER BINDER, conducting the Bastan Symphony Orchestra—

NANCY REA, putting experience to use by writing a lovelorn column in NANCY FAULEY'S Fashion Magazine—

FLORENCE ARCHIBALD, taking over Kitty Kallen's position as vocalist with Harry James' band—

BILLY ELLIS, a booming baritone, singing the role of Mephistopheles in Gaunad's "Faust"—

FRANK CARTER, managing the stage of the New York theatre where ERNEST EDWARD'S hit play, "She Fails to Conquer," is running its 260th week—

DORIS REA KLINE, a Hollywood radio columnist, sponsored by ROBERT SAVERESE'S Chicken Feed Corporation, going on the air to announce MGM's starring of GLORIA FULLER in a musical extravaganza—

Also on the air DONALD PELAVIN, replacing the Great Gildersleeve—

ESTHER WEISS, doing a pirouette at the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo—

Another Henry Kaiser, HOMER L. FERGUSON, III, speeding up production at the helm of the shipyard.

DOUGLAS SNEAD, looking down in the mouth (he's a dentist)—Sitting in the elevated chair, DICK AJALAT, who sprained a tooth doing a commercial for Lucky Strike (Sold to American)—

HERBERT BATEMAN, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, trying the case of BERNARD AUGUST, billiard champion of the United States, who left an "8" ball in the church of VICTOR TAYLOR, an Ozark minister—

On the athletic side JACK CRAWFORD, who holds the Olympic record for the quarter mile, watching FRANK HOPKINS coaching his boys at Duke—

A society notice announcing MARGARET LEE PAYNE'S marriage to NELSON OVERTON in headlines of the New York Times which is managed by WALTER STERN—

Ah, the crystal is growing dim again. It is acting strangely. Very faintly I see ELAINE SATISKY, a Rackette at the Radio City Music Hall—

IVY DEAN THOMAS, commanding a Flit gun on a Mosquito boat—

JIMMY MACKEY the Scoutmaster of Troop 4—

RUTH MITCHELL smiling happily because she owns the Kentucky Derby winner, and FRED FIELD reading the paper which contains his "Dentmore Wheeler" comic strip—

The crystal is black. That is all. Madame Lotta Bunk has prophesied the future, and the Madame knows.

History of Our Team

Unfurling the '45 season under the leadership of Captain Eddie Cooper, the Typhoon brushed aside several powerful services quints to gain much needed experience and confidence.

Then a hip injury benched Captain Cooper, when he was most needed, and the Typhoon bowed to its rivals across the river: Maury, Granby and Wilson.

Despite losses, Hopkins and Stortz combined their sharpshooting talent with the speedy footwork of Morris and Walker and kept the team fighting every minute. The lanky forms of Forrest and Pohl were to be seen everywhere at once breaking up their opponents offensive.

Hours of gruelling practice began to bear fruit; for the cagers came back at their rivals with renewed vigor to emerge as one of the strongest and most respected teams in the state.

Although their early record prevented them from being a contender for the state title, they had much to say in deciding the champion.

Junior Varsity

Coached by J. C. "Cowboy" Range, the baby Typhoon with Captain Presson as spark plug came up with an impressive record by whipping many of the city's formidable teams.

TRACK TEAM

A Team Makes History

Throughout the state, track fans who have an interest in high school competition have joined to praise the 1945 edition of the NNHS harriers.

From the ease with which the Gold and Blue thinclads took the state indoor track title at Charlottesville, it was evident that a fine team was coming from Newport High. As the season continued, it became unanimous that this team was the best ever produced in the ten or more years that NNHS has dominated Virginia High School track competition.

The Typhooners were victorious in all their class A meets, topping Maury and Granby in dual contests and taking the Tidewater and Eastern district meets with ease, almost doubling the number of points tallied by their closest competitors. And for the first time in school history, the locals captured the "C" Club meet honors in Washington, D. C., facing crack squads from the entire Eastern seaboard. Only once did the Gold and Blue Men taste defeat—that was when they climbed out of their class and tackled the Plebes at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. However, the Typhoon surprised its many fans even in this meet by copping six first places and several thirds.

Captain Theodore Theodorsen, star miler and pole vaulter, entered the Merchant Marine academy early in the season, and his post was ably filled by Hastings Hawk, weight artist, who continued his scoring ways, averaging more than 12 points per meet. A more perfectly shaped track team will be hard to find; it is with justifiable pride that we hereby salute it as a championship outfit, worthy of representing the school. Congratulations are due Coach Julius Conn for the fine job he did of moulding an unbeatable squad—may he continue to do so.

STRICTLY AS IS

J. Conn, he is a coaching man
Who sends forth many a team,
But never a one that he sends out
Has half of Julie's steam.

A CAREER FOR THE HIGH SCHOOL GIRL

Are you looking for a permanent and secure job, with opportunities for advancement and a chance for patriotic service?

If so, the Telephone Company offers the following advantages:

1. Clean safe work
2. Excellent working conditions
3. Pleasant surroundings
4. Progressive wage policy
5. Chances for advancement
6. Cafeteria on premises

We would like to tell you more about telephone work; why not visit our employment office, 3305 Huntington Avenue, Newport News, Virginia, and we will be glad to answer any questions.

The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.

In 1891 a bank was not much more than merely a place where one could keep money safely. Now think of the many, many services the First National offers in addition to this.
